

Lovely Lane connection United Methodist Church

March 2024

Vision Statement

"Lovely Lane is a dynamic faith community that seeks to welcome all people, nurture one another in the faith, and reach out in ministry and service."

This vision connects with our Discipleship Pathway, Worship + 2. We encourage all persons to be active in worship and participate in two groups in the church: one group is focused on study and the other group is focused on service.

Working Together

"We know that God works all things together for good."

— Romans 8:28 (CEB)

I recently watched a special on Netflix entitled, "The Greatest Night in Pop." The special was terrific. Maybe some of you have seen it? The special is focused on the behind-the-scenes action as the song, "We are the World," was recorded in 1985. The song was produced by Quincy Jones and written by Lionel Richie and Michael Jackson. The motivation was to raise money for famine relief efforts in Ethiopia.

The special showed some of the events that took place behind the scenes. Without sharing too much, we see the strong role that Stevie Wonder played bringing everyone together. He even helped a shy Bob Dylan understand what his part should sound like.

A further highlight was a handwritten note that was placed on the front door. The note said, "Check your ego at the door." With a group that included Madonna, Bruce Springsteen, and Diana Ross, there were some strong personalities present.

As much as anything though, I thought it was wonderful to see different people working together for a common good. With our world polarized today and the strong comments that some share on social media, this is hard. But there's always hope.

Other than recording a hit song, one hope for any group of people is to turn to the writings of St. Augustine, the fifth century philosopher. Augustine provides a wonderful model on coming together with his words, "In essentials, unity; in non-essentials, liberty; in all things, love." Basically, he is saying that all parties need to find common ground. The parties need to establish what is essential and agree on the basics. From here, all parties need to realize that some things are non-essential, so we can allow some freedom. That's good. With everything though, we need to work together in love. We need to have each other's backs.

These timeless words are not easy to follow, but they provide a nice path to move forward. Might we consider these thoughts today!

Peace and blessings, Scott

"Have a Beautiful, Terrible Day!"

A few weeks ago I went into Barnes & Noble to purchase a book I've been wanting. Not finding it, I walked up to an employee and asked, "Do you have the book 'Have a Beautiful, Terrible Day!' by Kate Bowler?" He raised his eyebrows at me, probably wondering if a title like that is even a book! He looked it up on the computer, and took me to it. I was excited to pick it up. Kate Bowler is one of my favorite theologians, writers, and soul persons. She writes about the hard stuff that none of us want to talk about. She uses words to describe our feelings in powerful ways—ways I've never found from many other authors. She always hits me deep in my soul. So her book "Have a Beautiful, Terrible Day" acknowledges the ups, downs, and everything in-between. It acknowledges that yes, sometimes our life is wonderful and our day is absolutely terrific, and sometimes, it's absolutely horrible and getting out of bed in the AM feels like an accomplishment that deserves a medal. Our culture is one that thrives on toxic positivity. Yes, trying to be happy when you're really not takes a toll on your mental health. Kate tries to provide an alternative to toxic positivity in her books. She's trying to "find better language than forced positivity to express our hopes and our anxieties."

So here's a blessing when you are overwhelmed and stressed.

No matter how much planning,

Anticipating, making lists,
there are always daily fires.

When is the appointment?

There's been a delay at the Pharmacy,

The pickup line, the checkout counter.

Who needs to pick up groceries again?

Pack, bathe, rummage, drive, launder, call. (cont'd.)

Somewhere at the center of me
is this love that whirs.

It ticks like an atomic clock.

I will love them all hours and my days.

Every calendar page can be told as a story,

Thousands of dates and times,

That I love them, show up for them,

Care for them.

But Lord, somewhere at the center of me

Is an alarm bell, ringing.

This rare and precious life you give,

All my hours and my days,

Are being carefully placed into boxes

And packed away by this schedule,

These errands,

These acts of good, good service.

No matter how much forethought,

Working ahead, "life hacking,"

I will never finish it all.

So give me a fresh sense of urgency.

When is the sunrise?

Read me a poem.

Who here has an amazingly

Embarrassing story?

There will need to be a delay

At the pharmacy, the pickup line,

And the checkout counter.

You are giving me back this day.

(Kate Bowler, "Have a Beautiful, Terrible Day,"

Chancel Choir Spotlight

March 3: "Come Home" (Page & Shafferman) The quiet strains of "Just As I Am" open this gospel hymn medley. Verses of "Softly and Tenderly Jesus is Calling" and "Jesus is Tenderly Calling" unfold, signaling the believer's response to Christ's call: "O Lamb of God I come!"

March 10: "In the Name of the Lord" (Gaither, Mc-Hugh, Patty, & McDonald) People gather on the streets to see the carpenter from Galilee. They see in His eyes the hearts of all men, the strength, power, and hope in the name of the Lord. Blessed is He who comes in the name of the Lord.

March 17: "Above the Hills of Time" (Irish Traditional Medley) The text is by Thomas Tiplady, (b. 1882, d. 1967), who wrote this well-known Lenten text. It is combined with the beloved Londonderry Air, "O Danny Boy".

March 24: Palm Sunday - Bell Choir

March 28: Maundy Thursday - Chancel Choir Quartet - "Follow Me!" (South Carolina Spiritual, arr. Carter)

March 31: Easter Sunday - "Alleluia! He is Alive!" (Poorman & Galliford) The tomb is empty. They knew Him as a man but now see Him as the King of Kings, the Son of God.
